

Bridal Veil by Jed Corbett

Silver Footprint

For the last 30 years fine art printer Robin Bell has produced prints of supreme quality for some of the most famous photographers of our time. To celebrate this landmark he is showing 120 photographs, printed by him, at The Independent Photographers' Gallery in Battle, East Sussex. With images by such well known names as Don McCullin, Terence Donovan, Ian Berry, Eve Arnold and Linda McCartney, it promises to be one of the best shows of the year.

Robin describes the selected images as being some of his favourite or most memorable photographs that he has printed over the years – and the fact that the photographers have all agreed to lend their work for the exhibition is fantastic.

This is a rare chance to acknowledge the skill of a great printer who has contributed so much to the work of our most admired photographers.
